

Burnley

This simple bolection-moulded Bath stone chimneypiece has its origins in the mid 17th century. In this example, the addition of a compound-moulded shelf increases the stature of the chimneypiece, demonstrating why the great Edwardian architect Edwin Lutyens (1869-1944) favoured this form of fire surround for many of his impressive works.

Dimensions

Height 50½in (127.3cm) width 60¼in (153cm)

Internal height 40in (101.6cm) width 40in (101.6cm)

Depth 6¼in (16cm)