

18th Century Antique

An early 18th century George I Irish Kilkenny marble frame chimneypiece, the central keystone carved with a scallop shell, a symbol of fertility implying this could have been commission for a marital home.

Dimensions

Height 57in (145cm) width 60¼in (153.2cm)

Internal height 47⅞in (119.7cm) width 40½in (103cm)

Internal height to scroll 45in (114.4cm)

Depth 1½in (3.7cm)

Reference

G385