

18th Century Antique

A fine mid-18th century George II carved pine chimneypiece, the central tablet with the head of Aurora, God of the dawn in the sun burst of the new day, flanked by a frieze enriched with generous sprays of acanthus leaves, capped with a tiered shelf punctuated by finely carved dentils, egg & dart, and bead & reel mouldings. With some later restorations and replaced elements.

Dimensions

Height 63in (160cm) width 64¼in (163cm)

Internal height 47½in (120.7cm) width 57½in (146cm)

Footblock to footblock 63½in (160.2cm)

Shelf depth 7¾in (18.3cm)

Reference

G401