

18th Century Antique

A late 18th century Irish Georgian Chimneypiece of simple architectural form, carved in an arrangement of Irish marbles, Black and Kilkenny. A plain central tablet, more densely clustered with fossils, sits beneath a shelf which breaks forward over it. The frieze and jambs are also in Kilkenny marble, although with fossils that are more dispersed. Slight embellishment comes in the form of a reeded inground.

Dimensions

Height 54 $\frac{3}{4}$ in (139cm) width 63 $\frac{5}{8}$ in (161.5cm)

Internal height 45in (114.3cm) width 42 $\frac{3}{8}$ in (107.5cm)

Footblock to footblock 57in (144.8cm)

Shelf depth 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ in (18cm)

Reference

G516